Bullet Blocker Backpacks

NIJ IIIA Bulletproof 50 Backpack

Item Number
BBBP50QQQ29

Product Description
The BulletBlocker NIJ IIIA bulletproof 50 backpack is big enough for a day-and-a-night of back country hiking and streamlined enough for use as an around-town day pack. Its single Light Beam aluminum stays in place and an HDPE frame sheet creates lightweight, reliable support. The pack's Dynamic Air Flow back panel allows warm air to escape so that you stay cooler while carrying weight. A contoured, padded waist belt offers comfortable load support. The patented Scherer Cinch uses a pulley-like system to double the tightening force on the waist belt, ensuring that the brunt of the pack's weight rests on your hips. When you aren't carrying heavy loads and don't need the additional support, you can remove the waist belt entirely and reduce the weight of the pack.

The curved and padded shoulder straps on both sizes can be quickly and easily adjusted to comfortably fit varying torso lengths. Load lifter straps relieve stress on your shoulders and an adjustable sternum strap positions the shoulder straps across the chest to prevent chafing under the arms and on the shoulders. Side compression straps help you to cinch and secure the contents for optimal balance and load distribution. The large main pack bag is accessed through a large, zippered front entry that allows the entire face of the pack to open wide for convenient loading and unloading. An additional large pocket located on the front panel provides internal organizational options.

NIJ IIIA Bulletproof Small Backpack Insert

Item Number
BBINSMQQQQ09
Product Description
The Basic Panel is our smaller size Threat Level IIIa (3A) Panel and weighs less than 12 oz.!! We designed this panel for the smaller pack or bag and a budget that puts this product in more peoples' hands. This is the same level of anti-ballistic protection found in all of our standard size ballistic panel products but made small enough to fit in smaller packs, purses and budgets. Simply insert the panel in your favorite bag for instant Threat Level IIIA Ballistic protection. You can even swap your panel(s) from bag to bag. Threat level IIIa panels are approx. 1/4 inch thick and will fit discretely in most packs, courier bags and larger purses.

For less than the cost of an iPod you can make any bag or pack, from your Thomas the Train to your NorthFace daypack, a Threat Level IIIa anti-ballistic shield. Now there is no reason to leave yourself or your loved ones exposed to the threat of random violence.

Ballistic Protection also saves lives in bomb fragmentation and explosive incidents. There are thousands of cases of shrapnel being stopped by body armor. However, shrapnel and fragments can take so many shapes and forms that it is very difficult to "rate" the levels of protection. Ammunition based rating systems, like the NIJ Threat Level system, seem to be the best way to measure the strength of a material in a projectile impact test. Threat Level 3a is the HIGHEST level of protection available in soft body armor (vests). Higher levels of protection are in the form of "hard" armoring: Ceramic, Composite or Metal Plates in pockets that protect the most vital, center of mass, organs, other than the head - See our Threat Level 3a clipboard inserts or bulletproof backpacks for products you can use to enhance your protection above the

The BulletBlocker Bulletproof Eagle Flight Jacket with NIJ IIIA body armor protection has a slimmer fit than our other flight jackets through the body and sleeve. In addition, it features a removable faux mouton collar and tonal color lining for a sleek look. The shell is made of a water-resistant nylon twill lining and contains a 100% polyester fill, and the body armor is designed for inconspicuous fit when worn while standing and walking.

The nylon web oxygen tab and headset wire snap tabs pay homage to the original military B-15 bombers mil-spec features that were used to help pilots secure their oxygen masks and headset wires during flight. This is a time-honored classic jacket.
